Huge Influx Expected by Edison Men

Predicting the growth in population in the San Gabriel valley, Mr.
R. H. Ballard, vice president and general manager of the Southern California Edison company, says that the corporation is building to electrically provide for populations as shown for the towns listed below:

Sierra Madre.....	9,000
Pomona.....	60,000
Whittier.....	50,000
Monrovia.....	37,000
Glendora.....	8,000
Azusa.....	6,000
Arcadia.....	10,000
Covina.....	10,000
El Monte.....	10,000
Puente.....	4,500
Baldwin Park.....	10,000
Alhambra & San Gabriel..	65,000
Claremont.....	10,000
La Verne.....	8,000
San Dimas.....	6,000

"The four million new people who are coming to Southern and Central California before very long will swell the population of Sierra Madre to 9,000.

"I mean that they are coming to dwell in the ten counties in which the Southern California Edison company renders electric service. This means that we must provide for the electrical requirements of a population of six millions instead of two millions who now reside in the Edison-served territory," said E. H. Ballard, vice president and general manager of the Southern California Edison company, in addressing the San Gabriel Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting at Glendora Tuesday night.

At the monthly dinner the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce was represented by Secretary Floyd, S.
R. Norris, George Norris, Ray Grant and Dean W. C. Shaw.

"They are coming; they are coming fast—they are on the way. Don't worry about their coming because it only takes one person per year out of every 200 people in the United States and Canada to keep up the ratio of increased population which will give us six million people.

"How many people can you count that came from the city or town or vicinity from which you came? I can count 500 from every place that I have ever lived in, and I never lived in Iowa, Kansas or Missouri.
Now the Southern California Edison company knows that this population is on the way and it is the particular business of the officers, engineers and department heads of the company to see that there is enough electricity, generated and distributed, to take care of their electrical needs, otherwise I do not think that they would come.

"We will be ready for them—you can write that down as a guarantee.

"Will you be ready for them?"

NORTHERN THRILL

Two hundred miles is no distance to travel for a Canadian dog team.
The team obtained by the Cosmopolitan Corporation to film "Unseeing Eyes," an Arthur Stringer story woven around life in the Canadian Rockies, which shows next Thursday and Friday nights at the Wistaria theater, traveled 100 miles beyond Athabaska Landing, Alberta, Canada, and then traveled 100 miles more to Lake Louise where the company was on location.

The team was owned by James McIntosh, a fur trader, who is the only white man in that part of the country. "Unseeing Eyes," in which Lionel Barrymore and Seena Owen are featured, is said to be the most thrilling and picturesque photoplay ever filmed in the Canadian North-woods. E. H. Griffith directed from the scenario by Bayard Veiller, author of "Within the Law," and "The Thirteenth Chair," and Joseph Urban designed the interior settings.
Erno Rapee composed the musical score.

PARISH HOUSE IS SCENE OF PLAY 'JINKS'

The annual "jinks" of the Church of the Ascension was held Wednesday evening in the Parish House.
This event is always looked forward to with great pleasure on the part of those fortunate enough to be entitled to come.

The eligibles include the cast of the annual bazaar play and the choir that renders such notable musical service during the year. For some reason the vestry of the church were also included this year, opinions being somewhat different as to the exact grounds on which they were allowed to participate.

The first part of the program consisted of a bounteous dinner of young turkey with all the fixin's.
The second part consisted of a very lively lot of speeches, songs and stunts. The outstanding number was a recital by Miss Edith Blumer of the experiences of a newcomer in the city who learned from a variety of experiences the most interesting happenings of the past year.

Through the clever direction of Mrs. Harry Hawthurst everyone was compelled to display his "edication" through the performance of some silent feat which the others had to guess. Then came a short musical program in which some distinguished musicians took part, notably Mr.
Randolph Wood. Mrs. Allen received many congratulations on the success of her work in directing the play.
Cards and dancing concluded the delightful evening, which was under the auspices of the Woman's Guild and the leadership of Miss Lydia Webster.

Miss Galpin Speaker at Civic Dinner

Miss Loy Galpin, well known club woman and public school worker, will be the speaker of the evening at next Monday night's dinner of the Civic Association.

A special musical feature is offered in the singing of two songs by Mr. Gilbert Wilson, baritone. Mr.
Wilson was for several years well known in Chicago musical circles as a grand opera singer and choral director. He will sing "A Khaki Lad" by Florence Aylward and "The Ramblin' Irishman," by Fox.

The customary dinner will be served by ladies of the Woman's club. The proceeds will go to the furnishing fund, which is very timely just now in the program for the beautification of the club quarters.
The memory of the last dinner will doubtless serve to attract another record-breaking crowd.

Miss Galpin's subject will be "Public Schools and Civic Work." The matter of enlarging the local school plant will be taken up again. It is also expected the project of providing poster and postcard advertising for the Fennel Wistaria vine and spring fete will be taken up, as well as a number of other matters likely to be presented through the Open Forum.

DAUGHTERS OF VETERANS TO FORM A TENT

Arcadia ladies are active in the work of organizing a branch of the Daughters of Veterans at that place.
Mrs. Jessie Lawrence is active in the work of organization and Sierra Madre ladies who may wish to join the order are invited to communicate with her.

Funeral services for the late Mrs.
Fred J. Bruza were held Saturday afternoon at the Allen T. Gay chapel. The services were conducted by Rev. Alfred Pomfret of Los Angeles, an old friend of the family.
Interment was at Forest Lawn. Mr.
Bruza and children have the deepest sympathy of the community in the loss which has befallen them.

Luncheon For Commuters Is Experiment

"Better Car Service" will be the subject for discussion at the first luncheon held by the Sierra Madre commuters. The luncheon will be held in the Los Angeles City club in the Chapman building at noon, Monday, February 18. A number have already signified their intentions of being present at the luncheon and space is reserved for twenty.

President W. E. Doty of the Civic association will handle the gavel at the first meeting. There will be a special room reserved so that those attending the luncheon will not be interrupted by others. There is considerable demand for better car service on the Sierra Madre line and it is believed that if the people who travel to Los Angeles daily should get together and voice their sentiments, it would have much more weight with transportation officials than any movement coming from infrequent users of interurban service.

A movement is under way to give trains leaving Los Angeles right of way over trains going toward Los Angeles, which is believed by many would cause less delay to those who use the Pacific Electric to reach their homes after a day's work in the city.
There is also a movement to replace the 4:40 car, which was taken off of the schedule some time ago. A petition will be presented at the meeting for both of these proposals so that officials will be able to understand the sentiment of the people who use the cars daily.

It is the plan to have these commuters' luncheons at frequent intervals so that the problems peculiar to the commuter can be discussed and disposed of. Sierra Madre is the first suburban town in California to try this scheme.

MEMORIAL FOR LATE PRESIDENT next Sunday morning a service appropriate to the memory of the late President Wilson will be held. The

the Battle Done."

Light and Thy Truth," Gounod.

O'er."

phets of the Ideal."

Randolph Wood.

diers."

All who desire to attend this service will be most cordially welcome.

SPRING RAIMENT OF GLAD HUES

The Sierra Madre Tailors have received their spring line of suitings and the flowers that bloom in the spring will have nothing on the man who wants to go the limit on some of the novelties offered. On the other hand there are plenty of handsome, conservative patterns for those who prefer them. Mr. Craig and his tailor, Mr. Annas, are showing the new line with a good deal of pride and taking orders for a good many suits.

Charlie Ellis of the Busy Bee cafe left Thursday morning for West Virginia. After attending to business in connection with the settling of an estate, he expects to return and buy a home in Sierra Madre.

Elliott Rhodes of Pasadena spent Thursday afternoon renewing old acquaintances here.

Sierra Madre Has Over 900 Voters Listed

Registration of Sierra Madre voters has now passed the 900 mark, according to Mrs. Mary A. White, deputy registrar. This does not include local voters who may have registered in Los Angeles but whose names will appear on the Sierra Madre register.

Mrs. White has now completed the cavass of the city. Voters who wish to enroll their names on the great register will now have to call at her home, 58 E. Laurel.

New registration since Jan. 1, 1924, will be necessary for all who vote at the presidential primaries in May and in all subsequent elections.
While it has not been customary to require new registrations for local city and school elections occurring before that time, it is just as well to register now and have it over with. Registration at the present time will be good for the next two years except in case of removal to another precinct.

VANITY FAIR HAS FOUR LEADING MEN

Flappers, here's good news: a picture with four leading men, each one worth the price of admission. And all hovering around pretty Mabel Ballin, one of the screen's most popular feminine stars.

"Vanity Fair," dubbed by Thackeray "a novel without a hero," has Harrison Ford, George Walsh, Hobart Bosworth and Earle Foxe in leading roles opposite Mabel Ballin, who plays Becky Sharp. Harrison Ford has played lover to such beautiful women as Norma and Constance Talmadge and Gloria Swanson; Earle Foxe has shared final fadeouts with Alice Joyce, Irene Bordoni, Norma Talmadge, Blanche Sweet and Florence Reed. George Walsh was starred in a number of productions, and has been paired on the screen with Theda Bara, Miriam Cooper, Ann Luther and Wanda Hawley. Mr.
Bosworth has starred in many productions and has had with him many of the big feminine stars of the day.
"Vanity Fair" comes to the Wistaria Theatre Tuesday, Feb. 12.

BUYS DIAMONDS HERE TO GET GOOD VALUES

L. C. Tucker's reputation as a dealer in diamonds continues to spread. Just the other day a lady came up from Long Beach and bought a fine stone. She knew she could find larger stocks and more pretentious stores nearer than this, but she was not so sure of getting fair treatment and a stone sold on a close margin of profit. She had learned of Mr. Tucker through other customers and upon examining his stock decided that she could really save a substantial amount on a good stone.

THEATRE HAS FINE CROWDS FIRST WEEK

With splendid crowds attending nearly every performance the Wistaria Theatre has opened with every prospect of complete success. Although under the handicap of lack of program announcement for the first week, the attendance has held up and last night Jackie Coogan drew capacity houses.

"Patronage has been ahead of our expectations for the first week," said Mason Brown, proprietor. "We certainly appreciate the cooperation of the merchants and citizens in helping us get away to a good start and will endeavor to merit continued pleasant relations."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark and children of El Segundo were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. L.
Twycross.

HOW SCIENCE AND BUSINESS WORK TOGETHER

Prof. R. D. Williams of Pomona College gave a fascinating talk on Psychology in Business at the Tuesday luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce at the Sierra Madre Cafe.
It was also a revelation of the way college scientists are trying to carry on their investigations in the true scientific spirit and at the same time make their investigations of practical use.

Altogether it was one of the most profitable and enjoyable talks given at the luncheons. Owing to the shortness of time Prof. Williams was unable to cover the topic completely and many of his hearers felt they would like to hear him on some occasion when the time is not so limited. He spoke interestingly of the methods used by employers of labor in securing help of the types best suited for particular requirements, and many other factors aiding successful business men.

Woodson F. Jones presided for the day and introduced the speaker, who was secured through the cooperation of Dr. W. A. Tate.

The speaker at next Tuesday's luncheon will be J. E. Calkins whose topic will be "Sewage Disposal."

The Home Dairy of Monrovia, a well known institution in the valley, has begun the regular delivery of milk and cream in Sierra Madre.
The management announces that a milk depot will be established here in the near future. For the present orders are received through the main office as indicated in their advertisement on another page.

Stray Shots of Hunters Wound Girls

Petra Banulos, 19 years old, and her younger sister, Marie, had a narrow escape from death Tuesday afternoon when they were struck by bullets fired by two hunters, Kenneth Thomas, 355 N. Live Oak St., and Dennis Williams, 1508 E. Walnut, Pasadena.

The girls were in the tent where they live with their family on the Hastings ranch, on the south side of the car line and just under the bluff at the edge of the vineyard.
The boys were hunting rabbits on the bluff and did not know the tent was there.

When the bullets struck the girls Anton Garcia, who was near at hand, rushed to the nearest telephone and notified the Sierra Madre police. Officers Adam Mueller, Ralph Odwarker and Tom Henderson rushed over to the scene and arrested the boys, who were taken completely by surprise at having injured any one.
They were brought back to Sierra Madre and turned over to the sheriff's office pending investigation.
Their car was held at Sierra Madre.

Although the girl's wounds were painful it did not appear that they were likely to prove serious. The boys were therefore released upon evidence that the shooting of the girls was not intentional.

O. E. S. VAUDEVILLE ON FEBRUARY 29

February 29 comes but once in four years. Not much oftener than that comes such an entertainment as the vaudeville program planned by members of the Eastern Star chapter. Mrs. Milton Steinberger is chairman of the committee in charge and has already secured a list of talent which ensures success. Many decided novelties are planned, including some extremely funny stunts which will provide many a surprise.
The proceeds of the event will be devoted to the furnishing fund of the Masonic Temple. Further details concerning the program will be published later.

C. K. Dana of Santa Barbara is visiting his sister, Mrs. Moore of Victoria Lane.

Pasadena Is Moving This Way Rapidly

Judging by the way Pasadena is building this way and the intervening lands are being subdivided, it will not be long before Sierra Madre will be able to annex the Crown City and claim her as her own.

The newest subdivision to go on the market is the Villa Anita tract, lying along the north side of the Sierra Madre car line and just east of Santa Anita boulevard. Carlton J. Pegler of Sierra Madre is tract manager, representing Ellis Bishop & Co., of Pasadena. This tract is the last of the famous Lambert ranch. It is called "Villa Anita," and both business and residence lots are offered.

"This tract has many peculiar advantages," said Mr. Pegler. "Transportation advantages are unusual.
It is convenient to main boulevards running north and south and east and west. It has access to Pasadena car lines as well as to the Sierra Madre line direct to Los Angeles.
Competent judges point to Santa Anita boulevard as a coming business street. They point to the development of Western avenue in Los Angeles as comparable. Santa Anita is expected to develop in the same relation to Lake avenue in Pasadena as Western avenue has to Vermont avenue in the larger city.
Lake avenue is too close in to develop much of a business section, and Santa Anita is bound to become the next outlying commercial center."

The Nation Mourns

While the public mind had been prepared for the passing of Woodrow Wilson and was spared the shock of sudden tragedy, it had likewise time to reappraise the services of the war president. Convinced that there would be no substantial recovery after his breakdown, the nation had already begun, consciously or otherwise, to estimate his place in history. With the asperities of war times and partisan strife softened or wiped out, there was a growing measure of tenderness and appreciation for the fine idealism which marked his utterances and efforts. It began to dawn on some of his bitterest opponents that he had been the one great spokesman capable of putting into words the world's longings for permanent peace and justice. Where he had been criticised for being impractical, it was realized that the handicaps of the peace conference were largely due to "practical" statesmen refusing to follow the ideals which he had set up as the standard. He will be recorded in history as a prophet ahead of his time.

WILSON TO BE SERMON TOPIC

Next Sunday morning Dr. Tate at the Congregational church will deliver an address on the life and service of Ex-President Woodrow ilson.
President Wilson had the reins of leadership during one of the most trying times in world affairs. The essential qualities of that leadership have won for him world-wide admiration and world-wide emities.
On both of these counts his place among the outstanding figures in American history is assured.

Boy Scout Service

This week is being celebrated as Boy Scout week. Therefore on Sunday evening at 7:30 a community Boy Scout service under the leadership of Scoutmaster Dennis Stovall will be held at the Congregational church, with the Episcopal church co-operating.

Every father and mother is earnestly requested to attend this service Sunday evening and become acquainted with the splendid contribution that the Boy Scouts are making to the boy life of our community.
Special music at this service.

Ford
THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Forecasting A Tremendous Spring Demand

739,626

more Ford cars and trucks were produced last year than the previous year, an increase of over 50 per cent.

In spite of this tremendous increase in production, it was impossible to meet delivery requirements during the spring and summer months when orders for 350,000 Ford Cars and Trucks could not be filled.

This year winter buying for immediate delivery has been more active than ever before—and in addition 200,000 orders have already been booked through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan for spring delivery.

These facts clearly indicate that the demand during this spring and summer will be far greater than ever, and that orders should be placed immediately with Ford Dealers as a means of protection against delay in securing your Ford Car or Truck or Fordson Tractor.

Right of Way Law at Street Intersections

Street intersection accidents are becoming so common that it appears to investigators many drivers do not clearly understand the right of way rule laid down in the California Vehicle Act of 1923. This reads as follows:

"A vehicle entering an intersection of the public highways at a lawful speed shall have the right of way over a vehicle approaching from its left, unless such vehicle approaching from the left shall have entered first into such intersection at a lawful speed, in which event the vehicle on the left shall have the right of way."

Entering an intersection is crossing the property line prolonged across the street. The motorist on the right has the right of way when he enters the intersection at the same time as the motorist on the left. However, the motorist on the left has the right of way when he enters the intersection before the motorist on the right.

Look Carefully

A motorist about to enter an intersection first should glance to his left and, if any other vehicle has entered the intersection from the left, this latter vehicle should be allowed to proceed.

Traffic blockades may be reduced if the motorist, who reaches an intersection and observes that vehicles from the right and left already are passing through, will refrain temporarily from going ahead. In fact, he has no right to proceed into the intersection and cause a blockade of traffic.

One important condition in the right of way rule is that any motorist who at any time enters an intersection in excess of lawful speed forfeits any right of way he otherwise might have had. This provision compels every motorist to observe the speed regulations before he can claim any right of way at street intersection.

Private Drives

Vehicles entering a public highway from a private drive or road must yield the right of way to all vehicles approaching on the public highway. Drivers generally have recognized the value of this rule, as private drives are often so narrow and hidden by hedges and trees that the driver on the public highway is unable to perceive a vehicle emerging.

Another provision that must be noted by drivers is to the effect that police and fire department vehicles shall have the right of way over all other vehicles. Every motorist upon hearing the siren of an approaching police or fire department vehicle immediately should drive to a position as near as possible and parallel to the right hand curb of the street and remain there unless otherwise directed by an officer until the police or fire department apparatus has passed.

These interpretations of the California vehicle act are given by the legal department of the Automobile Club of Southern California, which organization is campaigning to make 1924 a minimum accident year. Casualty investigations have shown the larger part of the accident toll could be averted if drivers obeyed the law and used reasonable diligence in driving safely.

The Scotch Recruit.

A young Scotch sentry was put on sentry-go outside the general's tent. In the morning the general rose, looked out of his tent, and said in a stern and loud voice: "Who are you?" The young man turned round smartly and replied: "Fine, sir! Hoo's yerself?"

A Difference.

"How long is it going to take to get through with this case?" asked the client, who was under suspicion of housebreaking. "Well," replied the young lawyer, thoughtfully, "it'll take me about two weeks to get through with it, but I'm afraid it's going to take you about four years."—Green Bag.

SMILE POSTMAN

In April, 1922, Postmaster General Work issued a set of rules to postmen. Because this set of rules has back of it a message that fits wherever men are employed; because, if followed, they will lead to individual and collective power, we were tempted to reprint them here—and tell. It is our belief that every employer of labor could wisely display these rules where they might be seen and read and studied. Mr. Work said:

"1. Smile, use courtesy to all—equals and subordinates, as well as superiors. It requires the use of about thirty-six muscles to smile and of ninety-seven to frown. Why work overtime?"

"2. Respect the authority of others and the personal dignity and feelings of subordinates; we are all human beings, not machines."

"3. Criticise constructively. Show how to improve conditions and how to correct and avoid error."

"4. To a patron accept blame for the mistakes of the office; do not air inside differences. If you are doing your best, assume that your fellow workers are doing theirs."

"5. Don't encourage gossip, be little or adversely criticise a fellow worker. We all have good points and like credit for good performance."

"6. Be generous when another gets it 'in the neck.' Fortune's wheel is always turning and you may be on the under side some day."

"7. Don't hide behind cryptic statements and take advantage of the double meanings of words. Cultivate clearness, come clean. Let others know where you stand and what you mean. The old order of secrecy and stealth is gone; speed, analysis, plain speaking and publicity serve better."

"8. Let us have co-operation, intelligent effort, team work and understanding. The old days where only the heads were presumed to have intelligence and the workers were supposed to obey orders blindly and implicitly are gone. The executive or supervisor who can get the work out through loyalty and team work rather than direct force of authority is by far the most valued man."

"All things whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them."

COLLEGE HAS NOVEL LIBRARY FOR HOME USE

The "Gleaners' Library," a mailing library of reference material, is an interesting experiment in extension work which is being carried on in affiliation with Pomona College Library. It is a large and growing collection of clippings from periodicals and reference books. Through this library thousands of subjects are brought to your own desk to be studied at your leisure as the material sent out by the library may be kept two weeks. The library makes no attempt to supply highly technical material, or to serve as a reference library for the various professions, but it does have countless clippings on art, literature and music as well as on economic and social questions.

Writers of club papers who are far from reference libraries or too busy with household matters to spend hours looking up material; high school teachers and pupils who are in need of up-to-date information on special subjects; debaters and orators, will find the Gleaners' Library an unlimited source of assistance. It has on file pamphlets and clippings upon thousands of subjects, daily augmented by the latest publications of many of the best literary, musical, scientific and sociological magazines, as well as material from federal government publications.

The variety of intellectual interests that are touched by this library is astounding. Every known subject from the "Bok Peace Plan" to "Tendencies and Possibilities of the Movies;" from the "Philosophy of the Yogi" to "The Value of Vocational Training;" and biographical material of as varied personalities as the Victorian, Elizabeth Barrett Browning and the very modern Fannie Hurst. So the list grows of the many widely different subjects that are touched by this library.

That the library fills a real need is certain from the many letters of appreciation from its patrons. The purpose is not profit, in fact, the library does not pay its own way, and cannot with the small fees charged. It is simply one of the affiliated organizations through which Pomona College endeavors to fulfill its mission as the "Intellectual and Spiritual Service Station" of Southern California.

Those interested simply have to address the Gleaners' Library, Pomona College, Claremont, California.

Are The People of Sierra Madre Asleep?

FELLOW CITIZENS: I fear our loved town is "asleep at the switch." I also fear some of our best citizens are making seriously bad judgment to support strangers or anybody to again attempt to exploit and despoil our town, for their personal profit; this time to take 14 acres of our none too abundant residential land and close in, to build large buildings and establish a large "City of the Dead," to make Sierra Madre a Cemetery town to the utmost of their ability, to bring here the dead from everywhere. It would be far more humane to give the town over to sanitariums, which we have decided against---because, with sanitariums and a large city of the dead, I am sure, all well folks would have to GET OUT. Permit me to point out that there is all the difference in the world between taking care of our own dead and allowing anybody to establish a world-renowned cemetery here. Yes, we need a new cemetery, two to five acres, but in another place and preferably and possibly OUTSIDE our small city limits, and we should and take no chances of a large cemetery as proposed, injuring the purity and safety of our drinking water. Over 100 acres just south of the proposed cemetery is fortunate to have abundant water from 110 to 135 feet, normal years. It would be terrible to ruin that or any water supply.

THIS PROPOSED CEMETERY SHOULD NOT BE.

Easy to Split But Hard to Mend a City

Editor and Manager Sierra Madre News, Dear Sir: I want in the first place to thank you for the many courtesies extended to me ever since I located in your lovely little town a little over three years ago. Now I want to crave your indulgence in describing my experience in trying to build up a small village in the state of New York, my first home in the United States.

Before going further I want to tell you I am very much interested in this little city, our home, but I have got beyond the age of much effort or hard work. You know the ancient book tells us to choose young men for labor and old men for counsel.

Factions Are Fatal

On my return from the east after an absence of over eight months I was very sorry to learn there had been so much controversy between the people regarding what was for the best interest of the city and that two factions had sprung up, both zealous for the upbuilding of the community, but with varying ideas of which was the better way, and became antagonistic to each other. This is very unfortunate and must be overcome. "A city divided against itself cannot stand."

In the year of 1869 I located in a small town called Clayton, located on the bank of the St. Lawrence river, in the state of New York, amongst the famous Thousand Islands, applied for naturalization papers and commenced the practice of dentistry. I contracted for real estate upon which to build a home and soon became a full fledged American, and did everything in my power to make the town better for my having lived in it.

When Harmony Rules

The town contained five churches, one protestant and one Catholic. The Catholic church property was worth more than the other four combined; they were very zealous and hard workers. Each year during the tourist season they held an annual fair and bazaar lasting about ten days. The protestants joined in with them, contributed to their fair, bought their goods, assisted with their entertainments, considered it one of the town attractions and made calculations for the coming of the event each year. Everything was harmonious between the churches and the entire population. Even the proprietors of the two large competing hotels worked together in every way. In fact, the town was noted for the harmony that existed between the people, until a very unfortunate occurrence took place that almost ruined the town.

A dispute arising over the actions of a demented young man in trying to dispose of some property developed into a bitter feud between some of the churches. The factions opposed each other in everything connected with the town. Improvements were set aside, streets, parks, sidewalks, sprinkling, private property, the comfort of tourists and in fact everything except getting the ascendancy over each other was neglected, business fell off, rents dropped, business places were vacated.

Property Values Drop

All this happened after I moved from Clayton to Grand Rapids, Mich. I tried to sell my property, offered it for $15,000, much less than it cost me, but could not get a buyer. So I decided to go back and see if I could not do something to make the property more desirable. It consisted of a boarding house, a private residence, a large dock and yacht houses. I had not been getting rent enough to pay upkeep and taxes. I landed in Clayton some time in May, 1913. As I walked up the street I noticed grass growing above the sidewalks, timothy hay headed out in the street and around public buildings, so you can imagine my feelings. My courage was all gone. When I arrived at my boarding place the conditions did not inspire much hope. The woman had disposed of the furniture in two bedrooms and the sitting room. She was away behind in her rent, her lease had expired two years previous. After talking with her awhile I told her I would buy furniture for the three rooms, allow her to run it that year and if satisfactory would give her a new lease.

Telling the Truth

The first thing I did after that was to write a long article for the paper, calling attention to the condition of the town and how it struck me when I got off the train, and what would be the result if it so continued. The post office was on the same street as the depot. The people leaving the post office tore the wrappers off their newspapers and the envelopes off their letters into the street for the wind to pick up and cut all kinds of antics with them and frequently strike you in the face or take off your hat and mix it up with the old papers and the dust. I called the attention of begged of them to drop their feud and work together in regaining their former prosperity. When I took it to the editor he refused to publish it—said it would kill the town. I told him it was already dead and I wished to resuscitate it. If he would not publish it I would give it to a rival town. So he consented to use it, but wrote an editorial apologizing for my letter, complimented me on the way I kept up my property, but claimed conditions were not as bad as they appeared to me. The next day after the paper came out, they had the sprinkling wagon out, had men mowing and raking up the grass, others gathering up old papers and tidying up the streets and parks. I kept up my campaign of letter writing, telling the people how they should treat outsiders if they expected their business, told the merchants if they maintained a price on their goods for home people and another for the tourist they should give the visitors the lower one if they expected to hold trade. A rich man from Washington, D. C., who owned a palatial summer home (Continued on Page Seven)

ANALYZING THE PRINTER

You can look through a telescope and see an object more clearly, but the object itself is just as far away as before. You can get a "closer price" on good printing if you have time to look long enough, but, well, draw your own conclusion from this statement of the editor of an advertising publication, written to a Wisconsin manufacturer:

"Like every other branch of industry, printers group themselves into different classes—'cheap,' 'pretty good,' 'good' and 'high-class.'"

Almost never can a 'cheap' printer do 'good' or 'high-class' work. And the 'high-class' printer who tries to do 'cheap' work almost always loses money. Not only that, but he is extremely likely to do something else—create the impression in the minds of his workers that he has two standards, one for customers who want and are willing to pay for high-class work, and another for those who don't and aren't.—The Business Bringer.

The Alamo.

The Alamo, San Antonio, Tex., was originally a Franciscan mission house, built in 1732, and called San Antonio de Valerio. The building was used as a fort on occasions and called Fort Alamo.

Nothing New.

Chairs of nonsense are talked of in the colleges. They have them now, but they call them by different names.

WOMAN'S CLUB NOTES

Club Calendar

Wednesday, Feb. 13th, Reciprocity Day, 10:00 a. m.

Thursday, Feb. 14, Final meeting of Parliamentary Law class, to be held at Mrs. Osgood's home at 1:30 p. m.

Friday, Feb. 15, Dance and Card Party in the Club House, 8 p. m.

Reciprocity Day is the one outstanding day in the life of the average woman's club and Sierra Madre is proving no exception to this. Plans for a most interesting day are being made, the state president and many of the officers of the district federation having indicated their intention of being present.

The program as outlined promises to be of interest to all. And it is urged that reservations for luncheon be made with Mrs. W. J. Miller, Green 90, as early as possible. As usual the Reciprocity Day tickets are 75 cents. Attention is again called to the fact that the only available programs are incorporated in the monthly bulletin and that it will be necessary for members to bring their bulletins to the club house that day if they desire to have programs. Club members will please enter the club house at the west door and use the upstairs dressing room, which the Masonic lodge is permitting us to use.

Mr. Dennis Stovall will open the afternoon session of the Reciprocity Day program.

Men who are interested in the subjects covered by the program will be admitted to either morning or afternoon sessions. "The Redwoods," "The Colorado River," "Liberty" and "Child Life" will be the four divisions of the main subject, "Conservation."

The Art exhibit, which will be held in conjunction with the Reciprocity Day program, has been augmented by some beautiful pictures by Jack Wilkinson Smith, which will be loaned from the Biltmore Salon.

Valentine Masque

Miss Eleanor Bayne is chairman of the St. Valentine Masque, which will be held in the Woman's Club house on Friday, Feb. 15. The music, which has played for all the recent dances, has been secured and prizes will be given for the best costumes. The plan to have cards and ma Jongg in the Wistaria room has proved so attractive that this also will be featured. Mrs. Ingraham and Mrs. Hull will serve as chaperons.

Drama Studies

The Drama section held its first meeting of the new year at the Woman's club house on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Outlines and suggestions for the year's work were made and it was decided to take up the study of George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man." A review of "The Tool" by Channing Pollock, which is now being shown in Los Angeles, will be given by Miss Elizabeth Ferris at the next section meeting, Monday, Feb. 18. Following the meeting Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones served a delightful tea to the participants in the Revel and pictures taken by Mr. Conard were distributed to the "cast."

Parliamentary Law

It is with sincere regret that the members of the Parliamentary Law class find their course coming to an end. The next meeting will be the last and will be held at the home of Mrs. Osgood on Thursday, Feb. 14. Each member is expected to do a stunt—tell a story, sing a song or dance a jig if she prefers. In any case, to come to the last meeting of the Parliamentary Law class that she may partake of the crumbs of knowledge which this too brief course gives us and for which we are so sincerely appreciative to Mrs. Osgood.

Fine Imitation

There will be considerable interest in the fact that the Tuesday Afternoon club of Glendale has offered a prize for the best floral design to be used on stationery and has suggested that it be similar to that used by Sierra Madre. San Pedro also is following our lead and is stimulating interest in the adoption of a flower for their club and city.

Civic Association

Arrangements to prepare and serve the Civic Association dinner on Feb. 14 are being made by the ladies of the club who urge that you come to the feast and thereby help the Furnishing Fund of the club.

Conference Meetings

The chairmen of departments are requested to bear conference dates in mind. The benefit derived from attendance at these meetings is too great to estimate. Do not miss a single meeting.

Aid for P. T. A.

Mrs. Lehner, chairman of philanthropy committee and the members of the board who were present at the Mothers' section meeting Jan. 30, promised to aid the P. T. A. in any way possible. The club is anxious to co-operate with the members of the other organization and will bend their energies toward the feeding of the children.

Building Progress

Work on the club house itself is about finished and the efforts of the club women are being bent toward the construction of those things which will reduce the debt incurred in the very necessary alterations. The benefit derived from the additional dining space has already been felt and lovers of cards are enjoying the comfort afforded by the Wistaria room on dance nights for in it they can play undisturbed while those who prefer to do so dance in the main auditorium.

the people to all these things and on one of the islands and owned a yacht that sometimes took 500 gallons of gasoline at one time, told me that he had his chauffeur bring his car up from Washington and maintain it at Clayton all summer so that his butler could go to Water-town twice a week to buy his supplies rather than give Clayton merchants the opportunity of charging him the extra price.

The protestants expected to find me an ally. I refused to take any part in the controversy but kept up my campaign to bring about a re-Harmony Brings Improvement conciliation.

The next year on my return I found conditions entirely different. The people had reorganized, every person busy cleaning up their yards, painting where it was needed, the sprinkler keeping down the dust, sidewalks improved and everything in general being put in condition. Before the summer was over the Catholic priest and his assistant came to my dock and introduced themselves and thanked me for what I had done. I asked him what he referred to. He said those letters you have written stirred the people up and see the result; there has never been a time that there was so much improvement made in Clayton in one year. Just see the number of houses that have been painted and they are still at it.

I remained in Clayton six years, conducting a motor boat supply station that I started on my return. The business doubled every year for the entire time and the property coming up gradually. I soon found a party that offered me my original price. I told him my price then was twenty thousand. At the finish of the sixth year I was offered my price but I had advanced to twenty-five thousand. He offered me twenty-three thousand, which after long deliberation, I accepted, simply because I felt the business had grown so fast that it was altogether too much for me to handle at my age. I spent the next summer with my successors to introduce them and help them get started.

Bringing New People

The warring factions buried the hatchet and gradually got together and before I left they had bonded the town to raise money to pave and build sidewalks on every street inside of the corporation, which attracted tourists by automobile, which soon taxed the capacity of the town and every house in the town and far into the country that could furnish an extra bed was filled with tourists. Every road entering Clayton is paved and in the winter even the river is paved with ice three feet thick. On my return to Clayton last summer I found business booming, every one happy and contented. They all told me it was the best year they had in over twenty years. The property I sold for $23,000 they told me could not be bought now for fifty thousand.

I do not wish to imply that conditions here are in any way as bad as they were in Clayton. But any lack of harmony is bad and should be corrected at once and I think I can see considerable improvement since I returned from the east over three months ago. I am not a rich man, have not had the brain of "Andy Gump" to enable me to resist the allurements of the financial sharks as he did. I am beyond the productive period, am not earning one cent, have not any business to ask patronage for, have only a modest little home to shelter myself and my only child. I have only been able to save a little money which I hope by economy and prudence will take care of us until I have passed the last few milestones of my earthly career and still leave a little to help her along after I am gone.

Improving Sierra Madre

I am very much interested in Sierra Madre, because it is at present my home and I want to do all I can to build it up. But my means are limited. Had I the money that some of the recent settlers are reputed to have it seems as though I could do a great deal to help the town. Or even if I had the money and property of some of the old settlers I would at least build sidewalks in front of my premises. To me that seems to be the paramount need of our city.

In regard to the electric signs to be built on the boulevard at the intersection of the two streets entering the city, I would think we might get along with one for the present and use the surplus money in some other form of advertising and later on if we found that electric sign was a success we could easily erect the second. I have talked with several business men who agree with me.

Yours very truly,

A. BAYNE.

DINNER FOR SCOUT TROOP AND PARENTS

As a concluding feature for "Scout Week," all boys of Troop One will attend service next Sunday evening together. Special services, in which members of the troop, led by Scout John Snyder, will be held. These will be of a nature similar to the Sunday morning services held every week during the summer camp on Catalina Island. Representatives from all the churches of Sierra Madre have been invited, including the Episcopal choir. The troop will renew its pledge and four-minute talks will be made by Scouts Charles Hull, Merrill Jensen, Ivan Munson and Danson Tarr on the scout laws. Scoutmaster Stovall will tell a special story, out of his own life experience, on "The Test of Bravery." Doctor Tate has vey generously offered his church to the troop for this purpose, and is co-operating with the scouts in laying plans for a very interesting and impressive service. The public has a cordial invitation and will be happily welcomed.

Complimentary Dinner

A bang-up complimentary dinner, a yard wide and three or four "help-ins" deep will be given all scouts of Troop One, Sierra Madre, by the "Scout mothers," and other good women and splendid cooks of the P. T. A. on the evening of February 22nd—Washington's birthday. It will occur at the Woman's club house, and plans are now under way by an arrangement committee, of which Mrs. Roess is chairman, to make it one of the very happiest affairs of the season. It is not to be a money making event in any sense—but just a happy get-together of scouts and scout parents, around a common board. No subscriptions will be taken, and no money raised for anything. In fact, no charge for the banquet will be asked from scouts. Dads and mothers will pay a nominal sum—possibly not more than 50 cents. The women of the Parent-Teacher Association have agreed to do all the cooking and all the serving "free gratis for nothing," and the ladies of the Woman's club have offered to give the club house to the scouts for this evening, free of charge.

Entertainment for the evening, following the banquet, will be given by selected entertainers from the P. T. A., or provided by them, and by patrons from the troop. Long-winded speeches will be absolutely barred, so that everybody can honestly say they had a good time.

As scoutmaster of our local troop—to me the finest bunch of boys on earth—I am here making, for the first time, an appeal to the generous folks of Sierra Madre, for help. I am doing it for the scouts themselves—and merely ask that those who wish to contribute potatoes, butter, sugar, milk, lettuce, "eats" of any sort that a healthy boy can digest—or who can give money to be used in purchasing such provender—may give same to Mrs. McKinley, whose phone number is Red 47. Other women on the committee are Mrs. Ropp, Mrs. Calvert, Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Henderson.

DENNIS H. STOVALL,
Scoutmaster Troop One.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Nolte and son Richard left Monday for San Jose, having sold the Mt. Wilson Tavern at the end of the car line to Mr. and Mrs. L. Arthur and Mrs. Forrester, recent arrivals from Canada.
